

Login Information Protection Notice

We hope that you find Imperial Online easy to use and of great benefit to you in managing your Imperial policy.

Your privacy is important to us, and you can help us to protect it. There are things you can do to help protect your personal and policy information and prevent changes to that information that you have not authorized. Your user ID and password will provide you with access to your policy information, but to avoid any unauthorized access to it, you should:

- Maintain your login information in a secure place, and do not disclose or share it with anyone.
- Contact Imperial immediately if you have lost or cannot find your login information, or if you believe someone else has gained knowledge of this information.

Any breach of confidentiality shall promptly be reported by you to Imperial. You may contact Imperial at 1-800-960-7777 to report such security breach.

Access to your account may be blocked by Imperial if there is belief that someone other than you is using your login information. However, Imperial assumes no liability for any unauthorized access to your personal or policy information because you failed to maintain your login information securely or disclosed it to someone else.
